2026 The World of the Greeks: From Myth to Empire

with Dr. Sheila Hoffman

Setting sail from the ancient splendor of Athens, this round-trip voyage journeys across the glittering Aegean and celebrates Greece's timeless allure. Walk in the footsteps of the gods at Delphi, a site famous in antiquity and the home of the oracle of Apollo, as well as one of the most impressive sites in Greece. Explore the birthplace of the Olympic Games in Olympia. Stand amid healing history at the Sanctuary of Asklepios in Epidauros. Wander the stone lanes of Monemvasia, a hidden medieval citadel rising from the sea.

Throughout the journey, you'll travel with Dr. Sheila Hoffman, who has lived in five different countries and adventured through more than 40 others on five continents as a scholar of art history, world cultures, and symbols. Her onboard lectures and site-based commentary will peel back the many layers of meaning that lie hidden behind the art and architecture of the sites you'll visit, making this voyage an unparalleled learning experience.

Highlights

- Travel alongside your expert for a uniquely immersive journey, connecting the landscapes and archaeological sites of Greece with the myths, inscriptions, and histories that shaped its classical heritage.
- Delve into the sanctuary of Apollo at Delphi, exploring its temples, theater, stadium, and museum to understand its role as one of the most influential religious and political centers of the ancient world.
- Examine the roots of Greek identity at Mycenae and Epidauros, from the Lion Gate and royal tombs of the Bronze Age citadel to the perfectly preserved theater renowned for its acoustics and architectural beauty.
- Walk the medieval streets of Monemvasia, a fortified Byzantine town built into the rock, where chapels, mansions, and walls reveal Greece's layered history from antiquity through the Middle Ages.
- Explore Hydra's maritime legacy, touring stone mansions, a 17th-century cathedral, and a patrician home that illustrate the prosperity of this car-free island shaped by seafaring traditions.

Itinerary

Day 1: Welcome to Greece

---

Arrive in Athens International Airport Eleftherios Venizelos (ATH), Athens, Greece where you will be met by your driver and transferred to the Athens Capital Hotel–MGallery Collection (or similar) for overnight. This evening, join your fellow travelers and your Great Courses Journeys Expert for a welcome cocktail reception. Dinner will be at your leisure.

Included Meal: Reception

Accommodation: Athens Capital Hotel-MGALLERY Collection (or similar)

Day 2: The Ancient Heart of Athens

Set out in the morning with your expert and a local guide for an exploration of the Acropolis where you'll see the Parthenon, Erechtheion, and Temple of Athena Nike. In the afternoon, enjoy lunch at your leisure, and continue to the Agora and walk through the reconstructed Stoa of Attalus. After time at leisure, transfer to Piraeus and embark Le Champlain to begin your voyage.

Included Meals: Breakfast, Dinner

Accommodations: Le Champlain

Day 3: Journey to the Center of the Greek World

This morning, sail through the Corinth Canal, the narrow waterway cut in the late 19th century to link the Aegean and Ionian Seas. As the ship transits, your expert offers commentary on the canal's historical significance, from classical ambitions to modern engineering, setting the stage for understanding Greece's geography and connectivity.

Arriving in Itea, continue to Delphi, once believed to be the center of the world and home to Apollo's oracle. Explore the Temple of Apollo, ancient theater, stadium, the sanctuary of Athena Pronaia, and the treasures of city-states lining the Sacred Way. In the museum, sculpture and inscriptions reveal Delphi's enduring role in religion, politics, and identity across the Greek world.

Including Meals: Breakfast, Lunch, Dinner

Accommodations: Le Champlain

Day 4: Farming and Culture in the Countryside

This morning begins with a drive inland through a landscape shaped for millennia by olive groves and vineyards, arriving at the village of Olympia. You'll explore the modern community, where shops feature local products such as olive oil, honey, and handicrafts that reflect traditions rooted in antiquity.

Continue to Magna Grecia Farm, a family estate where viticulture and olive cultivation illustrate practices central to Greek identity since classical times. Here, discussions reveal how agriculture tied to geography and climate sustained communities for centuries. Your visit concludes with a lively demonstration of traditional Greek music and dancing, highlighting how cultural expression, like farming, continues to connect modern Greece with its ancient heritage.

Included Meals: Breakfast, Lunch, Dinner

Accommodations: Le Champlain

Day 5: Olive Oil across the Ages in Sparta

From the port of Gytheion, travel inland to explore Sparta, long recognized for its fertile land and ideal climate for olive cultivation. Since antiquity, olives have been central to Spartan life, economy, and identity, and this legacy is vividly presented at the Museum of the Olive and Greek Olive Oil. Exhibits trace the evolution of cultivation techniques, pressing methods, and the symbolic importance of olives in Greek religion and society.

Continue to Estate Theodorakakos, a family-run vineyard dedicated to sustainable viticulture. Here, learn how agricultural traditions have adapted to modern practices while maintaining ties to centuries of cultivation. Discussions highlight how olive and wine production together demonstrate the enduring relationship between land, economy, and culture in Greece.

Included Meals: Breakfast, Lunch, Dinner

Accommodations: Le Champlain

Day 6: From the Middle Ages to Modernity

Monemvasia, a walled fortress often compared to Gibraltar, flourished in the Middle Ages as a strategic stronghold and vital hub for trade. Its prosperity was fueled by the export of Malmsey wine, which became highly prized among European elites. As you walk through its narrow streets, you'll encounter Byzantine chapels, Venetian mansions, and artisan workshops that reflect the wealth generated by this trade, culminating in a visit to the Church of Christ Elkomenos, a striking example of Byzantine architecture.

Beyond the fortress, continue into the countryside to the Liotrivi Estate, a restored 18th-century mansion. Here, learn how olive oil and wine production were intertwined with local economy and daily life, and how these agricultural traditions illustrate the enduring connection between land, commerce, and cultural identity in Greece.

Included Meals: Breakfast, Lunch, Dinner

Accommodations: Le Bougainville

Day 7: Sanctuaries, Citadels, and Civic Life

This morning, travel to Epidauros, site of the Sanctuary of Asklepios, where healing and religion were deeply intertwined in the ancient world. Here, you will also encounter the remarkable 4th-century theater, seating 12,000 and whose architectural design and flawless acoustics reflect both technical mastery and the cultural importance of drama in civic and religious life.

Continue to Mycenae, the powerful Bronze Age center that gave its name to an entire civilization. Explore the citadel, entering through the monumental Lion Gate, and examine its shaft graves, which reveal wealth, artistry, and social organization. Nearby, the beehive-shaped “Treasury of Atreus” illustrates advances in engineering and the myths that later associated the site with Agamemnon and Homeric legend.

Included Meals: Breakfast, Lunch, Dinner

Day 8: Hydra’s Maritime Past

From afar, Hydra appears barren, but as you approach its harbor, the amphitheater-like sweep of stone mansions testifies to its remarkable maritime past. In the 17th and 18th centuries, Hydra’s seafaring captains amassed great wealth through trade and naval service, transforming the island into a center of prosperity and influence. Touring the town on foot—Hydra prohibits automobiles—reveals the enduring imprint of this era. Visit the Cathedral of the Dormition of the Virgin, an important religious and civic landmark, and the Koundouriotis Mansion, today part of the National Museum, which offers insight into the architecture and lifestyle of an 18th-century patrician household.

Accommodations: Le Champlain

Day 9: Goodbye, Greece

After breakfast aboard, disembark and transfer to Athens International Airport Eleftherios Venizelos (ATH), Athens, Greece, for flights homeward.

Included Meals: Breakfast
